Dr. Myers Will Lecture Sunday On Academic Freedom For Students

Dr. Alonzo Myers, a visiting professor of higher education, will present a lecture, "Academic Freedom for Students," Sunday at 8:00 p.m. in the Ohio Room of the University Center.

David Hortin and Neil Maxwell, co-chairman of the educational and cultural committee of the University Center Board, reported that this will be the last lecture of this quarters series.

Before coming to SIU, Dr. Myers worked as chairman of the department of higher education at New York University for 30 years. He has taught at several colleges and served as consultant for many institutions in the development of new institutional programs.

Dr. Myers is a past president of the Association for Higher Education of the National Education association, and has served on National Academic Freedom Committee for 20 years. He has many journal articles published and is co-author of a book on teaching methodology. All students are urged to attend the lecture.

McKeefery Says Excellence Now Trusted

Student Aims In Education Meeting Topic

The "Aims of Education" conference opens today at 1:30 p.m. in Ballroom B of the University Center with a panel discussion on "What aims should a student hold for his education?"

The conference, designed to improve SIU's intellectual atmosphere, will continue through tomorrow afternoon with discussion groups, the presentation of papers, and lectures, all centering on an evaluation of higher education.

At 3 p.m. today, a discussion will take place in Ballroom A on Serendipity.

From 3:30 to 5 p.m., discussion groups will investigate: Education: Intrinsic vs. Extrinsic Rewards; to be held in the Mississippi Room; Functions of Liberalization and Specialization in Higher Education, in the Ohio Room; Limits of Institutional Responsibility in Relation to the Objectives of Formal Education, in the Illinois Room; Special Educational Functions of Athletics and "School Spirit," in the Sangamon Room; and Who should go to college and how should they be prepared? in the Missouri Room.

At 7:30 tonight in Browne Auditorium, Dr. George Axel will lecture on "The Purpose of Mass Education in a Democratic Society."

From 9 a.m. to 12 noon tomorrow, two papers and a panel discussion of them will be presented in the River Rooms.

Thomas Cassidy will conclude the conference at 2 p.m. in the River Rooms with a speech, "The Use of an 'Aims of Education' Evaluation in the Context of Southern Illinois University."

'Banners Of Steel' Premieres Tonight

GEORGE WORRELL

The first original full-length drama produced at SIU -- "Banners of Steel" -- will open at 8 p.m. today in the Southern Playhouse.

A cast of 36 students, under the direction of Christian Moe, assistant professor of theatre, will present the historical drama which was written by Barrie Stavis, New York playwright.

The play depicts John Brown's Civil War raid on Harper's Ferry in an effort to stir up a slave uprising. It is the fourth in the playwright's cycle of dramas dealing with heroes of mankind. The three others were "The Sun and I," dealing with Joseph in Egypt; "Lamp at Midnight," the story of Galileo, and "The Man Who Never Died," about labor organizer Joe Hill.

Stavis has been on campus helping to prepare the play for presentation.

George Worrell is featured in the role of John Brown.

The play will be presented through May 20 and again May 22 through 26.

Theater department spokesmen advised all women students who plan to attend the play to obtain late permits from their residence counselors since the play is long and probably will not be completed before women's hours deadline.

Last Chance To Take Two Examinations

A make-up examination will be held Saturday for all sophomores who were unable to take the required sophomore exams on May 8 and 9.

The make-up will be held in Furr auditorium from 8 a.m. until noon. This will be the last opportunity to take the tests. Attendance will be checked and those who fail to take it will be reported to their academic deans.

Another important test scheduled will be the undergraduate English Qualifying examination from 9 a.m. to noon Monday in Furr auditorium. This will be the last time this test will be given before the summer term. Students should bring their ID cards and a ball point pen for writing.

Student Scholars Honored For Academic Achievement

The dangerous quality of excellence has become socially useful, respected and even trusted, SIU's top student scholars were told at the annual Honors Day program yesterday.

"Were it not for the acceptance by the majority of the social value of an intellectual minority, you would be assigned to the expendable heap, like any other misfit," Dr. William J. McKeefery, dean of academic affairs, told the students who were being honored for academic achievement.

A flying, swooping bat demonstrated a new type of delaying tactic to a class in the Legislative Process in Old Main recently.

The class, taught by Dr. David Kenny, had been discussing the various forms of the filibuster--a delaying tactic--used in the United States Senate for several days.

The bat, on one occasion, was knocked from the air by a magazine-wielding student. However, it landed in the lap of one of the women class members and was hastily brushed aside. After circling the room several more times, the bat retired to its nesting place in a crevice between the top of the window molding and the ceiling.

1,500 Youths In Music Fete

The 13th annual "Music Under the Stars" program will be held in McAndrew stadium Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Approximately 1,500 area grade and high school musicians will take part in the program as part of a select band, masses elementary chorus and finally as one giant musical group, according to Robert Kingsbury, director of the festival.

Guest artists include a Broadway baritone and a 12-year-old prize piano player. Jack Drummond, a musical comedy performer who has appeared in such shows as "South Pacific," "Oklahoma," and the London Company of "Plain and Fancy," will be the vocal guest star.

And Courtney Scott, who won the area-wide preliminary competition for the Chicagoland Music Festival, will be the instrumental soloist on the program.

Directors of the various musical groups taking part in the show will be guests at a dinner at 5:30 p.m. Saturday in the University Center ballroom.

The "Music Under the Stars" program is open to the public. Tickets will be on sale at the stadium boxoffices that evening.

"Your mind is peculiar. You poke into corners others overlook. You laugh where others find no humor. You stubbornly stay at a job just a little bit longer."

"Happily," he added, "society has passed the point it considers its top intellects too dangerous to tolerate."

He told the large audience in McAndrew stadium that excellence becomes relevant when it responds to the challenge thrust upon us by our times. And he listed four challenges to excellence today.

One is the adaption to rapid change...in an age when "we must be both the conservator of a heritage and the innovator for tomorrow without losing our balance."

"The second challenge to excellence is society's quest for a clear and worthy purpose," he said. "...A student, a university, and a culture must have a clearly defined long-term goal."

He listed the third challenge to excellence as "open confrontation on great issues."

"We have reached, in this second half of the Twentieth Century, global competitiveness with few natural barriers like the mountains or oceans of old remaining...there is no substitute for excellence and the nation that ceases to strive, declines," he said.

"Second-rate or twisted efforts are soon exposed," he added.

Dr. McKeefery said the four challenges is the problem of educational emphasis.

"How should the intellectual experiences be organized to develop the liberally educated man and woman?" he said.

He pointed out that the social sciences, natural sciences and humanities have all made great advances and one of the major problems is how these important areas are related.

"There is need for excellence in the sense that a man is free from the provincialism of geography and time," Dr. McKeefery said. "Free to see mankind in broader perspective and freed to carry out resourcefully the leadership democracy thrusts upon him."

"It takes courage to transcend ignorance, prejudice and provincialism," he went on. "Motivation for this takes more than education, it begins early in homes."

THREE GRADUATING SENIORS were cited for grade averages of 4.9 or better during the annual Honors Day program in McAndrew Stadium yesterday. John Mustoe (far left), vice president of the student body, passes an award to Dr. Charles Tenney, acting president, who presented it to Peggy Brayfield of Carbondale. Connie Hamm of Wagner, South Dakota, and David Kamler of New Athens received similar awards for their outstanding scholastic achievements. (Photos by Don Heiberger)

Associated Press News Roundup

Weather Likely To Delay Carpenter's Orbital Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - Preparations for Astronaut Scott Carpenter's orbital flight Saturday are proceeding on schedule however a tropical disturbance in the South Atlantic probably will hold it up.

The disturbance is in the area where Carpenter would have to land if in case of mechanical difficulties early in the flight, space officials said.

The 37-year-old astronaut is scheduled to blast off between 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

As flight time draws near, the Navy Lieutenant commander is acutely aware that a mechanical failure during his flight at 17,500 miles an hour and more than 100 miles above the earth could cause his death. He said during a recent interview, "You can't be afraid when you have such great expectations-what you are about to see and about to experience. It's impossible to be afraid."

Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., the Marine astronaut who blazed the U.S. orbital trail Feb. 20, told a Congressional committee: "We do not envision every flight coming back as successfully as the three so far; there will be failures, there will be sacrifices."

WASHINGTON -- A U.S. transport plane crashed Thursday near Nairobi, Kenya with 14 Air Force personnel aboard. The Air Force said all were apparently killed on the mission related to Saturday's planned space flight by astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter.

WASHINGTON -- President Kennedy told his news conference Thursday American troops were sent into Thailand to stabilize the situation in Southeast Asia. "We can't tell when they will be withdrawn," he said.

Peace along the line which now exists between Red and pro-Western Laos government forces is essential though Communist withdrawal is preferable, he stated.

The United States, Kennedy said, is seeking primarily to get a diplomatic solution in Laos. Asked precisely why he decided last weekend to send U.S. forces to Thailand, a country bordering Laos, Kennedy said he and his policy-makers were concerned about the breach of the Laos cease-fire by Communist forces and by the Red advance in northwest Laos.

WASHINGTON -- The House Ways and Means Committee by a one-vote margin Thursday backed President Kennedy's recommendations to pay workers if his proposed new trade program throws them out of work.

This was considered the last major controversial issue in Kennedy's legislation for tariff-cutting and readjustment of U. S. industries which might be hard-hit by imports.

WASHINGTON -- The Senate Investigations subcommittee voted unanimously Thursday to conduct public hearings of scandals flowing from the Billie Sol Estes case. Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said the hearings will start as soon as his staff can wade through a mountain of documentary material.

Estes, who built a fortune through complex financial manipulations in government farm programs, is awaiting trial on federal and state charges growing out of the collapse of his financial empire.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. -- Gov. Otto Kerner told a news conference Thursday the state's financial woes can't be solved without some form of tax increases.

The governor said he made his tax recommendations to the 1961 legislative session and some of them were rejected. "Now let the geniuses come up with something," he declared.

GARY, Ind. -- Gary police and federal narcotics agents arrested eight persons yesterday in a narcotics raid, which a Gary detective captain announced, dried up narcotics traffic in Gary.

Newspaper Session Draws Publishers From 10 States

Newspaper publishers from ten states are enrolled for the second annual Weekly Newspaper Management Workshop which opens Saturday at Giant City State Park lodge.

Publishers from Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Kentucky, Idaho, Colorado, South Carolina, Oregon and Rhode Island will spend a week with nationally noted journalists and printing specialists discussing typography and design, photography, label, plant layout, advertising and other topics.

Robert Shaw, manager of the state of Washington's Newspaper Publishers Association paper Publishers Association, is director of the workshop.

The faculty includes Edmund Arnold, noted typographer, editor of Linotype News, and professor of journalism at Syracuse University; Marion Krehbiel, newspaper consultant and broker from Norton, Kan., now a visiting professor at SIU; Joe Terry, manager of the newspaper division of Wolf and Company, Chicago certified public accounting firm; and George C. Brown, professor of printing and business manager of The Egyptian.

The workshop is sponsored by the Department of Journalism.

Pig Snatchers Tend 'Pork' For Offense

Three SIU pig snatchers have learned how to take the 'squeal' out of porkers.

The trio of students was placed on disciplinary probation through the summer quarter for trying to kidnap four small pigs from the swine center with the intention of turning them loose in a dormitory. The pigs squealed and the students were caught.

The three were turned over to the animal industries department for a "beneficial and educational" work project, said assistant dean of men Joseph Zaleski.

Their education efforts included feeding, cleaning and preparing the porkers for sale.

Said one of the students after several hours of pig pampering, "I guess some good came out of it. Now I've learned how to pick up a pig without making it squeal."

A fourth student involved in the prank was suspended from school through the fall quarter of 1962.

Honor Guard, Band To Perform At Scott Air Base

Southern's AFROTC band and honor guard have accepted an invitation from Scott Air Force Base to perform there Saturday.

The groups will give two performances, starting at 1 p.m., as a part of Scott's National Armed Forces Day activities.

According to Major Harry Denzel, project officer for SIU's part in the event, all faculty and students from here are welcome to attend the festivities at Scott. During the open house there from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., visitors will be able to see various aircraft, aircraft equipment, and a static display of engines.

This will be the second year that SIU's AFROTC units have participated in the ceremonies. "Scott was so pleased with our performance last year that they asked us to return," said Denzel.

BOB ROWLAND, poultry science major, interviews Mrs. Ernest Martin, a Carbondale housewife, to gather data for egg quality research at SIU.

SIU Student Putting All His Eggs In One Report

Bob Rowland, a poultry science major, probably knows more about the eggs consumed in homes in this area than most of the people who are eating them.

A research assistant in the animal industry department, Rowland presently is conducting door-to-door interviews to find out what local consumers look for when they buy eggs.

The data he has been gathering will be used in connection with egg quality research at SIU.

Rowland is a junior and before he started prying into the egg preferences of local residents, he worked at the SIU poultry center, in department poultry sales and in research record keeping.

His interest in agriculture in general -- and poultry in particular -- comes naturally. He was born in Christopher, Ill., and grew up on father's 80-acre farm there.

While a student in Christopher schools he was active in the Future Farmers of America and the 4-H Club.

He decided to specialize in poultry science because he feels that it offers many opportunities besides raising chickens on a farm.

It can provide careers in specialized research; in developing, manufacturing and selling goods; and in processing and marketing poultry he explained. It also could be a springboard to a wide variety of careers in food handling and marketing, he added.

Rowland said most of the housewives seem surprised at first, but "they all have been very cooperative."

In his interview he shows them pictures of broken out eggs and asks them whether they would like to cook them.

"The pictures are of various grades of eggs," Rowland said, "and sometimes you get some unusual answers."

When the test has been completed, Rowland said he generally discusses with the housewife what size and price eggs she buys and even asks about recipes.

"It's been a very interesting assignment," he added.

Aims In Education Conference

Still A Chance For Success

The unfortunate and inexcusable attitude of the bulk of Southern's student body is manifested in the registration at this writing for the "Aims of Education" conference to be held today and tomorrow.

Apathy has shown itself in various ways on the campus during the past year. One such manifestation is the nearly total lack of outside participation at Student Council meetings and other student government activities. Another exhibition of apathy is the less than 200 letters-to-the-editor submitted--while a tremendous improvement over past years, still far from the minimal expectations of a real means of expressing student opinion. And of course the most recent display of apathy, and the most pitiful, was the turn-out at the campus elections.

Now comes a chance for any student who so desires to participate with some of the top minds of the faculty in a series of discussion groups; to hear a student panel talk about "What Aims Should a Student Hold for His Education;" to hear a guest speaker and presentation of papers by faculty members. In short, an opportunity to discuss and possibly learn about the total meaning of what these short years at Southern Illinois University mean. Furthermore, ideas and plans for the future of SIU could well have their beginnings in the conference which commences today.

But the registration for the conference indicates that only an incredibly small number of students are interested in participating. Maybe it was too much to expect students to be interested in themselves, or perhaps those who are just haven't registered yet.

At any rate, there is still a chance for those who are interested, and those who think they might be, to make this first "Aims of Education" conference a huge success.

Part Of A Thoughtless World?

A friendly "hi", a nod of approval, a short note of thanks, an inexpensive gift, insignificant except for the thought that prompted the giving--some of the small thoughtful deeds, performed by humans that enriches life.

This leads to one of our most overworn sayings, "It's the little things that count." But no matter how trite the saying has become, it rings so true that one cannot help but repeat it again and again.

Events and activities take place everyday because of the tireless efforts of one or few persons who offer their services for no tangible reward. The only reward possible for them is perhaps a word or note of appreciation. But all too often those who benefit from the services become too wrapped up in their own enjoyment and fail to convey that gesture of appreciation. One short minute to express a "thank you" could last an indefinite amount of time in the heart of the one who receives it.

Southern is known for its friendliness. Students walk to class and cheerily greet each other. But often they neglect to add that one word that is more important to the person than any other--his own name.

Little things, little things--an endless number of examples can be cited, only proving that they are not little things at all.

Sometimes we deny ourselves the urge to do something nice because there is actually no reason for it. Why speak to a stranger--it seems so silly. Why buy a gift when there is no occasion for it?

But who knows the loss in a denied urge to do some good or kindly deed? Who knows but that silly little impulse, obeyed, might turn a life into brighter, happier channels?

The world often seems thoughtless, especially to those who have made that extra effort. Generally, this feeling has evolved because people are actually thankful or because they believe such gestures silly. In the latter case, we bind our lives by our conventions and our careful rules of what is sensible. In the former, we are simply inconsiderate and unappreciative.

Are you a segment of a thoughtless world?

Bell-Bottom Trousers

All old Navy men must have viewed with alarm and dismay the fashion advertisement we ran across the other day in which two gals were shown modeling, of all things, bell-bottom trousers. "Back in the fashion picture," the copy said.

For our part, the wearing of sailors' trousers by the fairer sex could have stayed out of fashion, if such an absurd habit were ever in fashion.

Is there no item of men's clothing that women won't try to wear? Besides, who wants to look at a girl in bell-bottom trousers? They might try a variation of bell-bottom shorts, but please not sailors' trousers.

Grand Avenue At 5 P.M.

Grand Avenue in Carbondale, the main thorough-fare to the campus from the west, is used daily by thousands of SIU students, faculty members and University employees. In terms of autos per day, it is probably the third or fourth busiest street in Carbondale.

On at least two evenings during five o'clock rush hours during this week, traffic has been jammed as illustrated by these photos taken Wednesday evening.

Cause of the jam is a mound of earth across the street making one-way traffic necessary. The dirt barricade has been formed in one way or another by earth-moving machines engaged in hauling dirt from the site of the new Education Building.

It is understandable that contractors must use public thorough-fares in the course of their work. It is understandable that a certain amount of dirt will fall from machines crossing over streets. But there is no reason in the world why a mess such as that on Grand Avenue must remain day after day.

Work Program: A Credit

More than 40% of Southern's students are engaged in part-time work during the school year to pay for their education. Some 2,500 of these are employed by the University through the Student Work Program.

The policy at Southern Illinois University is that the academically capable, financially needy high school graduate should have an opportunity to develop his potentialities in an institution of higher learning.

The basis for this policy is that both the individual and society would benefit from such an educational program. The University's Student Work Program is designed to provide part-time employment for such students.

With this aim in mind, the Student Work Program's staff is benefiting both the University and the student. The student is given an opportunity to earn partial aid for his education, and also a chance to gain experience on the job.

Each student is interviewed prior to being hired, and the staff tries to decide what job would be best suited for the student, and what student would be best suited for the job.

The University also gains through the transaction, since it is able to get all the employees it needs in a moment's notice through the Student Work Office.

The staff, headed by director Frank Adams, cooperates and works with the student in time of crisis. The student is expected to maintain a 3.0 average while working on campus. If the student falls below that average one term, he is not compelled to quit his job. Instead the administrative staff will let the student continue his work and try to find the source of the problem.

The Student Work Program is a credit to the University. It is not a one-side affair, as both the University and the student benefits by it. The fact that it considers both parties, the student and SIU, is one of the reasons the program has been successful.

Trackmen Defend IIAC Title Against Western Illinois In Macomb

SIU, the first Illinois school ever to win the Interstate Conference track title, travels to Western Illinois in defense of its 1961 crown this weekend.

Coach Lew Hartzog has entered a 18-man squad in hopes of setting a new all-time record for the most number of points scored by the winning team.

"With most of our boys back from last year's team," Hartzog said, "I believe we have an excellent chance of winning a second straight championship and we may even threaten Eastern Michigan's record of 83 6/7 points with a little luck."

"In fact I want to set enough records that the other members will remember us for a long time to come after we leave the conference," Hartzog continued.

SIU is expected to score heavily in the half-mile, mile, two-mile and javelin events. Jim Dupree, National AAU half-mile champ, is a heavy favorite to win his specialty after turning in a 1:48.8 clocking last week against Oklahoma State.

Teammate John Saunders may be able to provide Southern with a one-two finish in the event.

Bill Cornell is expected to win the mile with very little trouble and figures to finish second behind teammate Brian Turner in the two-mile event. Turner is expected to give the Salukis a second place in the mile, too.

Ed Houston, Hartzog says, should win the 440 with a little opposition from Northern Illinois' Franklin Walker. Houston has been timed in :48.2 while Walker is close behind at :48.4.

Dennis Harmon and Gerry Eskoff are expected to finish one-two in the javelin like they did last year when Harmon established a new javelin record.

"Whether we get the team record or not," Hartzog said, "we at least ought to be able to set new records in the mile, two-mile, 440, 880 and mile relay events."

Prior to winning last year's meet by a 14-point margin, SIU finished a poor seventh in the 1960 meet with just 13 points.

New Cage Coach Here To Discuss

Next Season's Material With Iubelt

Jack Hartman, SIU's new basketball coach, was on campus earlier this week and discussed next year's basketball personnel with SIU freshmen coach George Iubelt.

After conferring with Iubelt, Hartman decided to bring Paul Henry, a 6-1 guard, to SIU when he comes back to SIU in June.

Henry was one of the standouts on last year's Coffeyville team that won all of its 32 games and the National Junior College basketball championship.

Golf Team Seeks To Retain Interstate Conference Title

Defending champion SIU and last year's runnerup, Western Illinois, will battle it out today and tomorrow at the WIU golf course for the 1962 Interstate Conference golf title.

WIU was a nine-stroke loser last year to the Salukis but must rank as co-favorites in this weekend's meet because of the home course advantage.

SIU has three men returning from last year's championship team. Bill Barnett, Jim Place and Gene Carello all played last year in the tournament but only Barnett's 36-hole total of 150 counted in the final standings.

The IIAC has a rule permitting six men to play in the two-day competition but only the top four scores count in the final point standings.

Coach Lynn Holder's squad has compiled a 14-4 record. Barnett has won 11, lost four and tied two matches to run his career record of 40-9-4.

However, he has been forced to take a back seat to Jim Place, who has lost only two of 17 matches. Place competed last year and finished with a 153 total.

Gene Carello, a junior from West Frankfort, also participated in the 1961 meet and shot a 151, only one stroke off the cut-off mark. Carello has a 11-5-1 record this season.

Back from last year's top 10 finishers are Len Fiocca, WIU, Roger Van Dyke, Eastern Illinois; Barnett, SIU; Tom Kerr, Northern Illinois and Burless Bennett, Illinois State.

Fiocca won the individual title last year and figures to have rugged competition this weekend.

Larry Tucker To Hurl First Game In Decisive Weekend Baseball Series

SIU needs only two victories in the three game series this weekend with Central Michigan to clinch its fifth straight Interstate Conference baseball title.

Today's game begins at 3 p.m. on the Chautauqua baseball field. Larry Tucker has been named by SIU coach Glenn Martin to pitch the opening game.

Saturday's double-header will begin at 1 p.m., with Harry Gurley pitching the opener and either Art Ritter or Keith Bicker pitching the second game.

Central Michigan winds up its 1962 IAC season this weekend while the Salukis must travel to Eastern Michigan the following week for another three game stand.

SIU currently is on top of the IAC with a 8-2 record and Central Michigan trails with a 9-5 record. Two Southern wins and a loss would give Central a 10-7 record and Southern a 10-3 record.

With the 10-3 record Southern could afford to lose all of its games at Eastern Michigan and still win the IAC title.

Gurley and Tucker have combined for 44 victories in their four-year SIU pitching careers. Tucker leads with 23 while Gurley is not far behind with 21. In conference play, the pair has won 31 games.

Currently leading the SIU team in hitting is Mel Patton, sophomore . outfielder from Belleville. Patton is hitting .304 for the season.

Bob Hardcastle, senior second baseman, is now hitting .281 after having hit at a .300 clip until last week.

Dave Leonard is expected to replace the injured John Siebel in right field for the Salukis. Leonard is hitting .265.

"We've shown some signs of beginning to hit," Martin said, "and as long as Gurley and Tucker can continue their fine work I believe we'll be in good shape."

"Central Michigan has a real sound club with good pitching and solid hitting," the veteran baseball coach added. "Chuck Gronda is their leading pitcher and hitter. He bats third in their lineup."

Police Dry Up Water Fight

A water fight between two off-campus housing units was prevented Wednesday evening when University Police arrived and dispersed the crowd.

The fight was scheduled to take place in an alley between the two houses located on South University and West College, officials said.

Assistant Dean of Men Joseph F. Zaleski said that one of the students involved, Dennis Crosby, an 18-year-old freshman from Skokie, Ill., will be suspended from the University at the end of the spring term for his part in the incident. Zaleski said that Crosby was carrying a bucket of water and refused to leave the scene when ordered.

Approximately 200 people were present at one time.

Southern The Favorite In IAC Tennis Tournament

Deprived of its fourth straight title by three mid-tournament forfeitures last spring, SIU is expected to regain the Interstate Conference tennis throne today and tomorrow at Western Illinois.

The battle of the meet figures to be a four-team affair between Eastern Illinois, Northern Illinois, defending champion Central Michigan and Illinois State for second place.

Only 1961 IAC singles champion returning is Central Michigan's Bob Graham, who won last year at division five.

Expected to lead SIU to the title is Pachito Castillo who has been the mainstay of the season for the Salukis.

Castillo has won 11 of his last 12 matches and the last five in a row and is a favorite to win the IAC's division one title this weekend.

Castillo's teammate from Hamtramck and now SIU, John Geremich has a 12-match winning streak going into this weekend's tennis tournament. Geremich is expected to win the division two title.

Another Hamtramck, Mich.,

product Larry Oblin is expected to have rough going in the division four. Oblin has won only six of 16 matches this season against rugged competition and his coach Dick LeFevre says, "the rugged competition has done him good and he is ready for this weekend."

LeFevre has entered George Domenech in the division three singles, Richard Hartwig in division five and Bill Mulvihill in division six.

In doubles play LeFevre expects to go with Geremich and Domenech at division one, Castillo and Oblin at division two and Hartwig and Mulvihill at division three.
